

Frederic A. Kleinbart, M.D.

Comprehensive Diagnostic Center is pleased to announce that we are now scheduling appointments with Dr. Frederic A. Kleinbart, a board-certified orthopaedic surgeon and sports medicine specialist renowned for his expertise in shoulder and knee reconstruction. Dr. Kleinbart works closely with patients at Mercer-Bucks Orthopaedics, with locations in Hamilton, Lawrenceville, and Princeton, NJ, as well as Langhorne, PA. He has an impressive background, having served as the former director of sports medicine at Hahnemann University Hospital and as an associate professor of orthopaedic surgery at Drexel University College of Medicine. With a Certificate of Added Qualification in Sports Medicine, he has also been an associate master instructor of arthroscopy, teaching nationally. His extensive experience includes serving as the orthopaedic surgeon at the San Diego Olympic Training Center and being involved as a team physician for various collegiate and high school teams. Dr. Kleinbart is committed to advancing sports medicine and has played a key role in establishing specialty clinics. We are excited to have him on our team and look forward to the exceptional care he will provide to our patients!

 All physicians utilized by CDC have excellent track records in providing quality reports, depositions and testimony resulting in value-added outcomes

CDC has over 35 years of experience as a national coordinator of Independent Medical Examinations. IMEs are effective tools for clarification of treatment needs, causality issues, work capabilities, establishing Maximum Medical Improvement (MMI), determining future claims exposure, setting reserves, establishing permanency and moving the claim toward resolution. These issues may be addressed in exams for Workers Comp, Auto Liability, General Liability, Short and Long-Term Disability, Fitness for Duty and FMLA. CDC provides IMEs for both plaintiff and defense cases.
